St. James's, December 7.

AN humble Addreſs of the Mayor Capital Burgeſſes and Aſſiſtants of Tiverton in the County of Devon, has been preſented to His Majeſty by Thomas Bere, and Arthur Arſcott, Eſqs; their Repreſentatives in Parliament, being introduced by the Right Honourable the Lord Carteret one of his Majeſty's Principal Secretaries of State.

Which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

Vienna, Nov. 28. By Letters from Conſtantinople of the 15th of October this Court has Advice, that from all the Intelligence the Porte had received it appeared the Czar had been invited to come into Georgia by the Prince of Teflis, and by another Prince called Erghill, both Tributaries to the Perſians; which Princes obſerving the Diſorder of the Perſian Empire, and being Chriſtians of the Greek Church, preſſed the Czar to lay hold of that Opportunity to free them from Perſian Servitude, and take them under his Protection and Government. Accordingly the Czar having concerted the Enterprize with them came thither, under Pretence of revenging the Affront received at Schamachia, with an Army of 50000 Men, one Part of which went by Water along the Caſpian Sea, and the other to the People's great Surprize paſſed a Deſart of 12 Days March, where neither Proviſions nor Water were to be found, every Soldier carrying his own Proviſion of Victuals and Drink for ſo many Days. This Deſart begins at Terki, the laſt Frontier-Town of the Province of Aſtracan belonging to the Muſcovites, reaches to Teflis on one Side, and on the others borders upon the Country of ſeveral Tartars, particularly thoſe of Komak, who are dependant on the Perſians, but who either by Inclination or by Force have ſubmitted to the Czar, and have yielded up to him their two maritime Towns called Tarku and Enghi. The Czar having landed his Troops that came by Sea near Derbent, and marched another Body of them through the ſaid Deſart, being joyned by the two Georgian Princes at Teflis, and having in his Way made himſelf Maſter of the ſaid two maritime Places belonging to the Tartars of Komak, he advanced with his Army towards Derbent, which it was believed at the Porte would fall into his Hands, though they had not yet any Account of its having done ſo; and Schamachia being an open defenceleſs Place, it was not doubted it would ſoon follow the Fate of Derbent. Thus the Czar is in Poſſeſſion of all the Perſian Georgia, and of all the Ports on that Side of the Caſpian Sea, and has been received as a Deliverer by the Georgian Princes who are of the Greek Church. The only Oppoſition he has hitherto met with, is from the Prince of the Province of Dagueſtan, a Muſſulman, who it is ſaid has a very numerous Militia under his Command, and advanced with about 50000 Men to attack a flying Camp of the Czar's which he forced to retire, but a great Body of Muſcovite Troops coming up to ſupport them, thoſe of Dagueſtan were obliged to fly to the Mountains, not daring to meet the Muſcovites in the open Field.

The Tartar Han and the Prince of Dagueſtan have repreſented to the Porte in ſo warm a Manner the imminent Danger of loſing the Turkiſh Georgia, as well as the Perſian Part of it, and of ſeeing 400000 Muſſulmen carried into Slavery by the Muſcovites, if they are not ſupported by the Porte, that in the Beginning of October the Vizier was obliged to aſſemble a Divan or great Council at Conſtantinople, to which he communicated thoſe Repreſentations. After ſeveral Debates, it was reſolved, that for the Security of the Ottoman Empire, the Paſha of Erzerom ſhould be declared Seraskier; that ſeveral other Paſhas upon that Frontier ſhould raiſe the Militia in their reſpective Diſtricts, and be ready to joyn him as Occaſion ſhould require; and that Letters ſhould be written to thoſe Georgian Princes who had ſubmitted to the Czar, to intimate to them, that if they do not deſiſt from their Rebellion againſt their lawful Prince, which is underſtood to be very Prejudicial to the Turkiſh Empire, they ſhould be reduced by Force. And as for the Czar, a Capighi-Baſhi was ſome Days after the holding of that Divan, diſpatched to him, with Inſtructions to repreſent to him, that his coming with an Army into thoſe Parts, the Protection he gives to the Perſian Subjects, and his making himſelf Maſter of ſeveral Places belonging to them, are ſo many Breaches of the Peace between the Porte and him, and to declare that the Grand Signor cannot ſit ſtill and ſee ſo many People of the Muſſulman Faith expoſed to ſuch Dangers and Calamities.

Theſe Letters add, that it was not doubted from the Vizier's peaceable Diſpoſition, he will uſe his Endeavours to prevent a War; but the Advices that came daily with Alarms of the Czar's Progreſs, the ſtrong Sollicitations of the Tartar Han and of the Prince of Dagueſtan, joyned to the loud Clamours and Murmurs of the People of Conſtantinople, ſeemed to render it impoſſible for him to hinder it, unleſs the Czar ſhould deſiſt from his Enterprizes and reſtore what he has taken; of which there is no Likelyhood, after having ving advanced ſo far with ſo great an Expence, and ſo much Succeſs.

Whitehall, December 7.

The following Advices are come from Jamaica.

Kingſton, September 3.

On the 28th paſt we had here a violent Hurricane: It began at Eight in the Morning, and continued untill Ten at Night: The Height of it was from Eleven at Noon till One; during which Time it rained very hard, and the Wind often ſhifted: Near one half of the Houſes are thrown down, or ſhattered to ſuch a Degree, that they are irrepairable, and few or none have eſcaped without ſome Damage; inſomuch that the Town appears in a ruinous Condition: Several People are wounded; but we hear of no more than three Perſons who loſt their Lives. The Wharfs are all deſtroyed, and moſt of the Sugars and other Commodities that were there, are waſhed away. From Liguania we hear, that moſt of their Works and Houſes are blown down, and a Plantation intirely deſtroyed by a vaſt Quantity of Sand being waſhed into it. We likewiſe hear, they have ſuſtained great Damages at St. Mary's, Wagwater, St. David's, and St. Thomas's in the Eaſt; but we have not the Particulars. We are informed the Hurricane began at ſome of thoſe Places about Seven the Night before; and the Damage they received, was between that Time and Eight the next Morning, when its Violence abated.

St. Jago de la Vega, Sept. 3. We have received conſiderable Damage in our Buildings in the late Hurricane, particularly the King's Houſe, and Secretary's Office: But we hear of very few that are any ways hurt in their Perſons. It is remarkable, that thoſe Houſes which were built by the Spaniards ſuſtained very little Damage, though 'tis now 67 Years ſince the Conqueſt of the Iſland; conſequently thoſe Buildings are of much older Date: From whence we may reaſonably conclude, that they had met with Accidents of the like Nature, that put them upon that Manner of Building. We have an Account from Old-Harbour, that the Houſes and People there are all deſtroyed except two, and that moſt of their Works and Houſes at the Plantations are thrown down: They have likewiſe ſuffered very much at Sixteen-Mile-Walk, and St. Thomas's in the Vale. Yeſterday his Excellency ſat in Council; and this Day was publiſhed the following Proclamation.

Jamaica ſſ. By the King,

A PROCLAMATION,

WHereas we are given to underſtand, that ſeveral wicked Perſons, taking Advantage of the Misfortunes of our Subjects, occaſioned by the late terrible Storm, have barbarouſly plundered Ships, and other Veſſels run on Shore, or ſtranded on the Coaſt of our ſaid Iſland; and that the Goods of the Sufferers of our Town of Port-Royal, and other Places, have been in the moſt ſcandalous manner ſecreted and embezzelled; and we having nothing more at Heart, than the Security of the Rights and Properties of our good Subjects, for whoſe late Loſſes we are ſenſibly afflicted; and to diſcourage the ſaid Practice, which is ſo abhorrent to Humanity and Juſtice, and to the end that Reſtitution may, as far as in us lies, be made to the rightful Owners, or their Repreſentatives: We have out of our Princely Compaſſion for the Miſeries of our Subjects, thought fit, by the Advice of our Council of our ſaid Iſland, to iſſue this our Royal Proclamation, hereby commanding our Provoſt Marſhal-General of our ſaid Iſland, to ſeize upon and take into his Poſſeſſion, all ſuch Goods as ſhall be found either on Shipboard or on the Shore, and which were either Part of the Cargo of any Ship or Veſſel ſo ſtranded or run on Shore as aforeſaid, or were by the Overflowing of the Sea, or Rivers, waſhed out of any Dwelling-Houſe, Store-Houſe, or Wharf, and caſt on other Parts of our ſaid Iſland, and the better to enable our ſaid Provoſt-Marſhal to obſerve our Commands herein: We do hereby impower him to go on Board of, and ſearch, all Merchant Ships and Veſſels in any of the Harbours or Rivers of our ſaid Iſland, as alſo to adminiſter an Oath to any Perſon, or Perſons, whom he ſhall have Cauſe to ſuſpect, to have received, or ſtill do detain or conceal ſuch Goods as are herein before deſcribed. And in caſe of any Perſon's Refuſal to deliver any of the ſaid Goods, or to take ſuch Oath concerning the ſaid Goods, or any Part thereof, then to take him, her, or them, into his Cuſtody, there to be ſafely kept until further Order. And we do further authorize our ſaid Provoſt-Marſhal, to impreſs Slaves, Wains and Boats, in the Execution of our Commands herein. And for the more ſpeedy Redreſs of our Subjects; We do hereby direct our ſaid Provoſt-Marſhal to publiſh an Inventory, with the Marks or Numbers of all ſuch Goods as ſhall come into his Hands, by Virtue of theſe Preſents, which upon Affidavit or other Proof of the reſpective Owner or Owners Right or Property thereto, to the Satisfaction of our ſaid Provoſt-Marſhal, upon his Order be immediately delivered to the ſaid Owner or Owners. And we do ſtrictly charge and command all our Juſtices, Coroners, Officers of our Cuſtoms, and other our Subjects, to be aiding and aſſiſting to our Provoſt-Marſhal in the Execution of the Premiſſes. And to the end that wicked Tranſgreſſors may alſo ſuffer the other Penalties inflicted upon them by Law; We do enjoin all our Officers and Subjects to put in Execution, in the moſt rigid manner, (as far as the ſame regards our ſaid Iſland) one Act of Parliament paſſed in the Twelfth Year of the Reign of the late Queen Anne, Intituled, An Act for the preſerving all ſuch Ships, and Goods thereof, which ſhall happen to be forced on Shore, or ſtranded upon the Coaſt of this Kingdom, or any other of Her Majeſty's Dominions. Witneſs his Excellency Sir Nicholas Lawes, Kt. our Captain-General, and Governour in Chief in and over our ſaid Iſland at St. Jago de la Vega, the 3d Day of September, in the Ninth Year of our Reign, Annoq; Dom. 1722.

God ſave the KING.

By his Excellency's Command,

Joſeph Maxwell, Secr. Nicholas Lawes.

Port-Royal, Sept. 5. The dreadful Hurricane we had here the 28th of laſt Month, we were under Apprehenſions of the Day before; from the Weather appearing very unſettled, and the Wind often ſhifting. But the moſt ſurprizing Circumſtance, which put us under the greateſt Conſternation, was the prodigious Swell of the Sea: Throwing up ſeveral hundred Tons of Stones, Stones, and Rocks of a large Size, over the Wall at the Eaſtward Part of the Town, tho' at the ſame Time there was very little, if any, Wind. In the Night there was ſome Rain, Thunder and Lightning, which we were in Hopes would have cleared the Air; but before the Morning, the Town was overflowed with Water, occaſioned by the Continuance of the Swell of the Sea: About Eight it began to blow with great Violence at N. E. and continued till Ten at Night, during which Time it rained very hard, and the Wind often ſhifted; but the extream Part was from Eleven at Noon till One, when the Water was about five Foot high all over the Town, and we expected every Moment to be deſtroyed. About Three in the Afternoon the Wind abated by degrees, and the Waters fell away; but a more melancholy Proſpect ſcarcely ever was ſeen, and is not to be deſcribed: The Streets being covered with Ruins of Houſes, Wrecks of Boats and Veſſels, and great Numbers of dead Bodies: The Inhabitants that were preſerved, reduced to great Extremity for Want of Water, Proviſions and other Neceſſaries, which were moſtly deſtroyed; inſomuch that a great Number muſt have periſhed, had it not been for the Aſſiſtance of His Majeſty's Ships that rid out the Storm. Fort Charles has ſuffered very much, and the Eaſt End ſunk ſeveral Foot; moſt of the Cannon diſmounted, and ſome waſhed into the Sea: The Church and the Row of Houſes to the Eaſtward of the Town are waſhed away, inſomuch that there is very little Appearance of any Buildings. Near 400 Perſons loſt their Lives, and above half the Town is deſtroyed: In ſhort, the Damage is ſo conſiderable that it cannot be computed. The Magiſtrates were very diligent on this unhappy Occaſion, in burying the dead Bodies, and preventing Proviſions being ſold at higher Rates than they were at before the Storm.

The Duke of York, Captain Sanders, of London, caſt away near Green Bay, the Maſter and Men, except three, drowned. The Chriſtabella, Captain Griffin, of London, drove aſhore and broke her Back, the Men and Part of the Cargo ſaved. The King William, Captain Ruddock, of Briſtol, ſtranded, the Men and Part of the Cargo ſaved. The Frederick, Captain Good, of Briſtol, ſtranded, the Men ſaved. The Robert and Henry of Briſtol, Captain Jones, ſtranded, Men ſaved, Cargo loſt. The Kingſton, Captain Maſters, in the Service of the South Sea Company, with 200 Negroes on board, foundered, the Maſter and moſt of the Men and Negroes drowned. The Onſlow, and another of the Prizes taken by the Swallow on the Coaſt of Guiney from the Pyrates, are loſt; the other called the Ranger, rid out the Storm, after cutting away her Maſts. 14 Sloops, moſt of them belonging to the Iſland, are loſt.

Kingſton, Sept. 10. We hear from St. Anne's, they have had the Hurricane in as violent a Degree there, as on this Side of the Iſland, and have ſuffered as much in their Buildings and Plantations. The Froſt Frigate of London, Captain Hingſton, drove aſhore and is loſt, the Men are all ſaved. The Berſhua, Captain Fry, drove aſhore, but got off the next Day, and ſails in a few Days for London. The Catherine, Captain Barnet, in the Service of the Country, we are informed got into Davis's Cove, and rid out the Storm. This Calamity we find to be general throughout the Iſland, though ſome Pariſhes have ſuffered in a greater Degree than others: St. Thomas's in the Eaſt, and St. Mary's, have ſuſtained the leaſt Damage; and Port-Royal the moſt, in all Reſpects.

A Liſt of the Ships that were in our Harbour, and the Damage they ſuſtained in the Hurricane; thoſe that are marked with a Star, are ſince come up.

Admiralty-

Admiralty-Office, December 7.

Extract of a Letter to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, from Captain Harris Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Ships at Jamaica.

From on board His Majesty's Ship the Falkland, in Port Royal Harbour in Jamaica, Sept. 8, 1722.

On the 28th past, about Eight in the Morning, we had a very violent Hurricane which held all the Day, so that of about 30 Sail of Merchant Ships, but two are left Swimming, and but one Sloop of many that were in this Harbour is saved. The Island in General has suffered very much, many of their Houses, Mills, &c. blown down, and I do not hear of any that have escaped being much damaged: One third Part of Port-Royal is intirely destroyed, and many Families lost by the Sea breaking into it. His Majesty's Ships here, viz. this Ship, the Swallow, Weymouth, and Happy Sloop, are safe, but we have lost all our Masts, and parted most of our Cables; our Boats are all gone, as are most of those belonging to the Town, which hinders us very much in looking for our Rafts of Masts, &c. We have got all our Anchors again, and our Ships into proper Births and moored. The Launceston, Adventure, and Mermaid are at Sea. The Naval Storehouse is blown down: I have People there clearing away the Rubbish and securing the Stores in the best manner they can in the Victualling Storehouse, which stands without great Damage. When we can get our Rafts together, we shall endeavour to fix Jury Masts for the Swallow and Weymouth to carry them Home. I shall be getting this Ship masted, and fitted for Sea as soon as possible. The Storm made the Happy Sloop complain so much, that the Captain was obliged to clear his Decks of all his Guns, &c. to preserve her from foundering; but as we have got Masts for her, of some of the Sloops that were lost, we hope we shall get her fit for Sea next Week.

Whitehall, December 7.

Extract of a Letter to the Right Honourable the Lord Carteret one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, from Sir Nicholas Lawes Governour of Jamaica.

St. Jago de la Vega Sept. 20, 1722.

On the 28th of August last it pleased Almighty God to visit this Colony with a most dreadful Storm, which has blown down many of our Houses, destroyed most of the Shipping in our Harbours; and many hundreds of People, particularly at Port-Royal, have lost their Lives by the Fall of Houses and Inundation of the Sea. The Damage done to the Plantations throughout the whole Country is inconceivable. I have with the Advice of the Council issued Writs for calling a new Assembly, to meet the 22d of October next.

Whereas a short fat Man, about 50 Years of Age, with a round Face and pale Complexion, wearing black Cloaths with a light-coloured Frize Coat over them, and a tied Wig, who speaks Latin, Dutch, and English, but the latter very much like an Irishman, and called himself sometimes James Okes, at other times Abraham Whitro, was on the 26th Day of November last apprehended at Hoccley near Birmingham in Warwickshire, for uttering treasonable Expressions, and publishing traiterous Libels, and for the same, as also for divers strong Causes of Suspicion of other Crimes and Misdemeanors, was bound to appear at the next General Quarter Sessions for the said County; but has since absconded and fled from Justice, together with Henry Kempson, his Surety, who kept a Publick House at Hoccley aforesaid, where the said Okes alias Whitro lodged: All Persons whom it may concern are desired not to conceal or harbour him or his Bail aforenamed, but to apprehend and carry them before the next Magistrate, in order to their being dealt with according to Law.
